This is Suzy Plum.

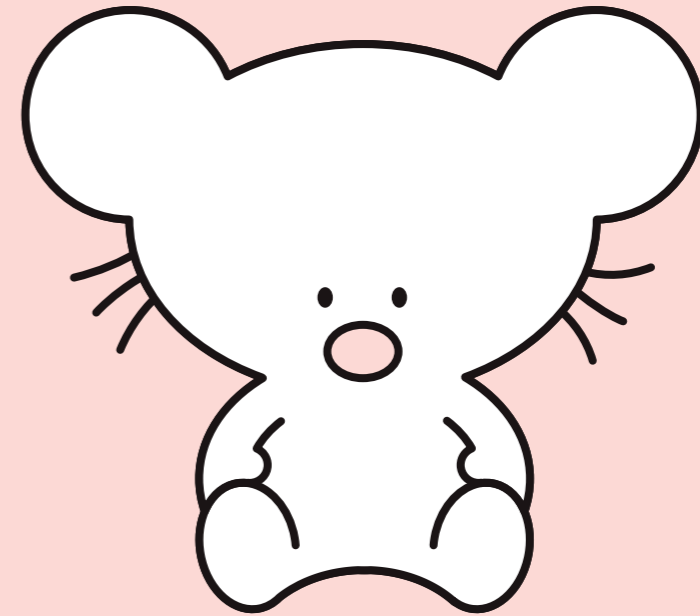

Suzy is a little mouse.

A cute little mouse.

With cute little ears,

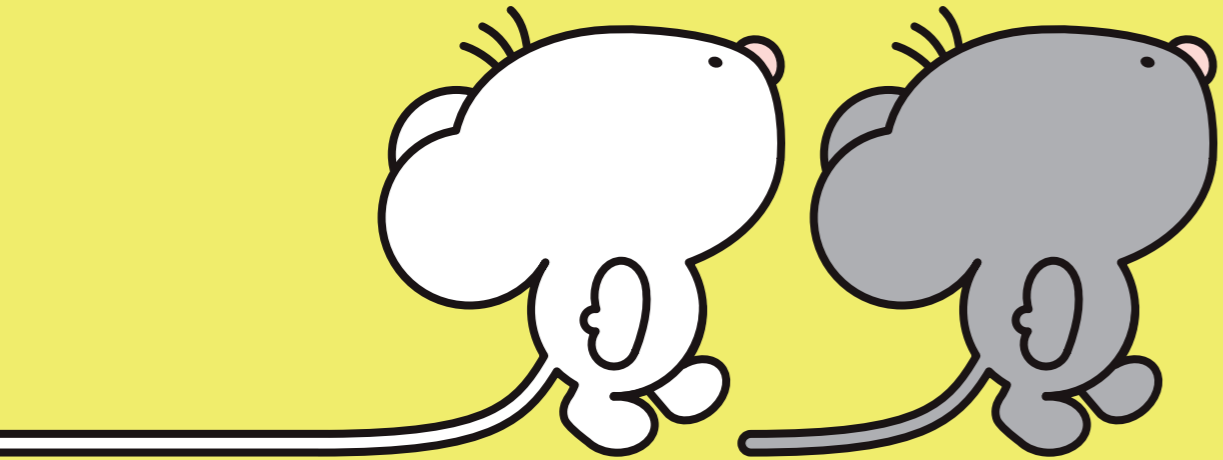

a cute little nose

and cute little eyes.

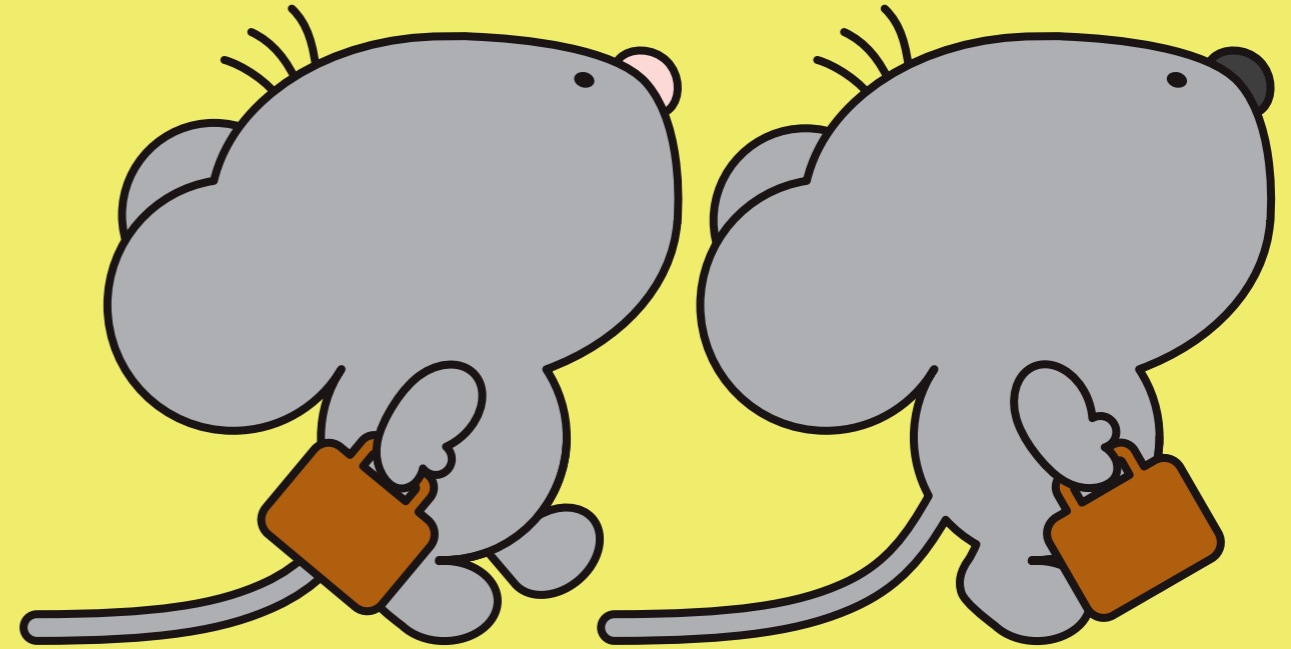

Suzy used to live in the big city.

But then Papa Plum, Mama Plum, Suzy and her little brother Plum

all moved together to a new town.

A little town.

A cute little town.

In the cute little streets
are cute little houses
with cute little gardens
and cute little trees.

But what's happened?

The sun isn't shining anymore!

There are no more leaves
hanging on the cute little trees.

And all the cute little houses
and all the cute little gardens
look grey

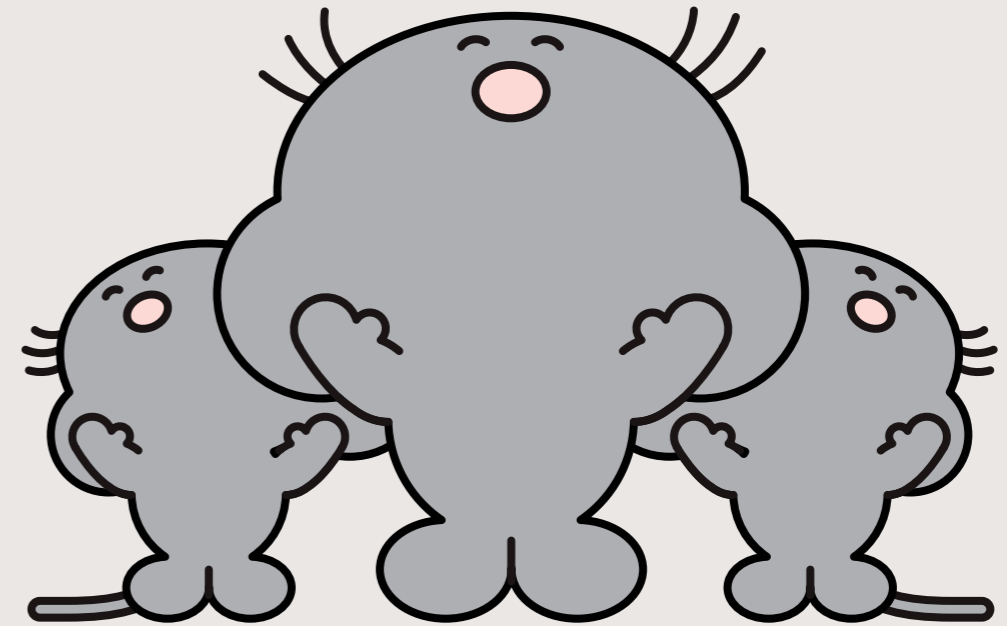

and bare

and very sad.

Between the cute little houses
is where all of the little mice play.
They run through the gardens
and play peek-a-boo behind the trees.

In the rain,
in the wind,
in the snow.

The little mice keep playing
in order to stay warm.

But not Suzy.

Suzy sits alone.

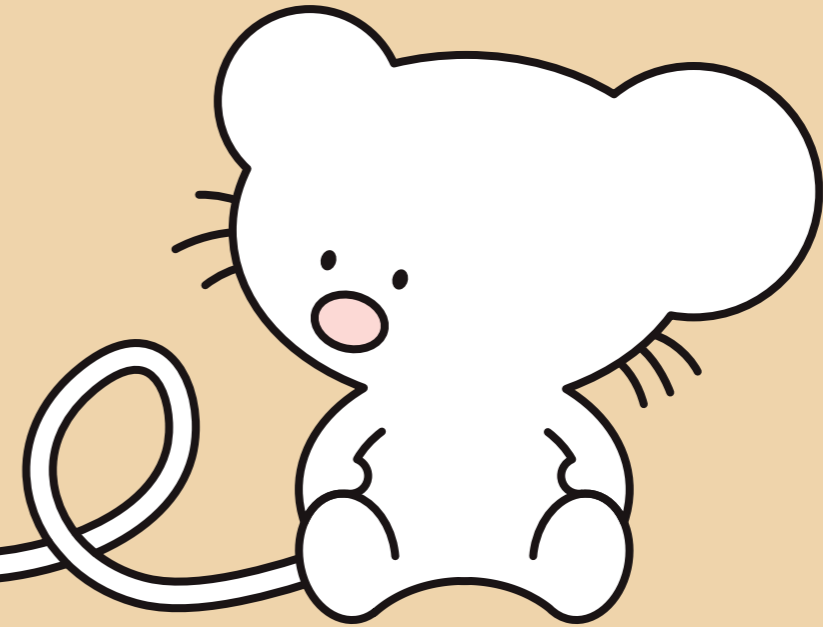

Suzy can't play with the little mice.

Suzy's tail is waaaaay too long.

And if she tries to play,

her long tail

always gets in the way!

That makes her very sad.

“Mama,” asks Suzy,
“why do I have such a long tail?”

I can't play, because it always gets in the way.”

“Just wait, little Suzy,”

Mama Plum replies.

“Someday you’re going to be happy
with that tail of yours.”

Suzy rolls up in her tail,
all cosy and warm,

and waits patiently for that day.

But the waiting sure seems to take a long time.

Days, weeks, months go by.

Suzy is so cold.

The cute little town that used to be so bright and cheery
is now so bare and grey.

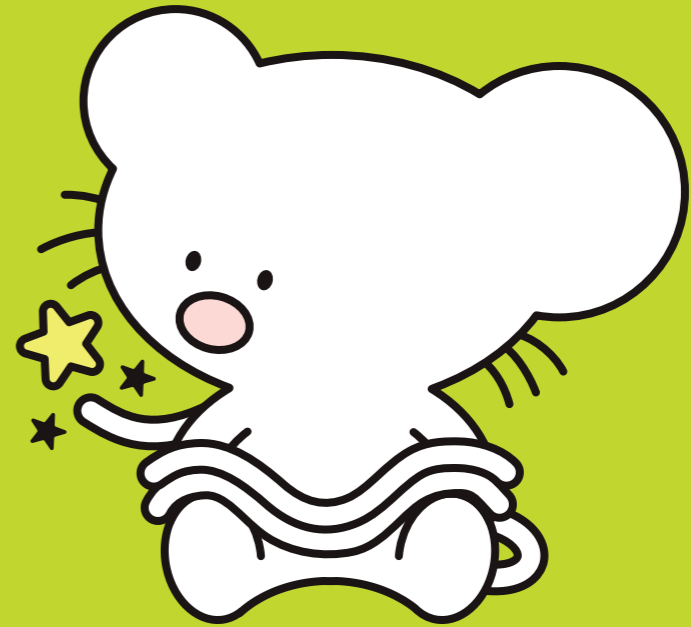

Where did the sun go?

A single tear rolls down Suzy's long tail.

And suddenly,
out of nowhere,
Suzy sees sparkly little stars
at the tip of her tail.

“What’s happening?”
cries Suzy.
“What’s going on?!”

“My tail is moving!”

She gets up and walks through the little town.

Her long tail,
with its sparkly
little stars,
dances
happily
behind
her.

Everywhere she walks
the sun begins to shine!

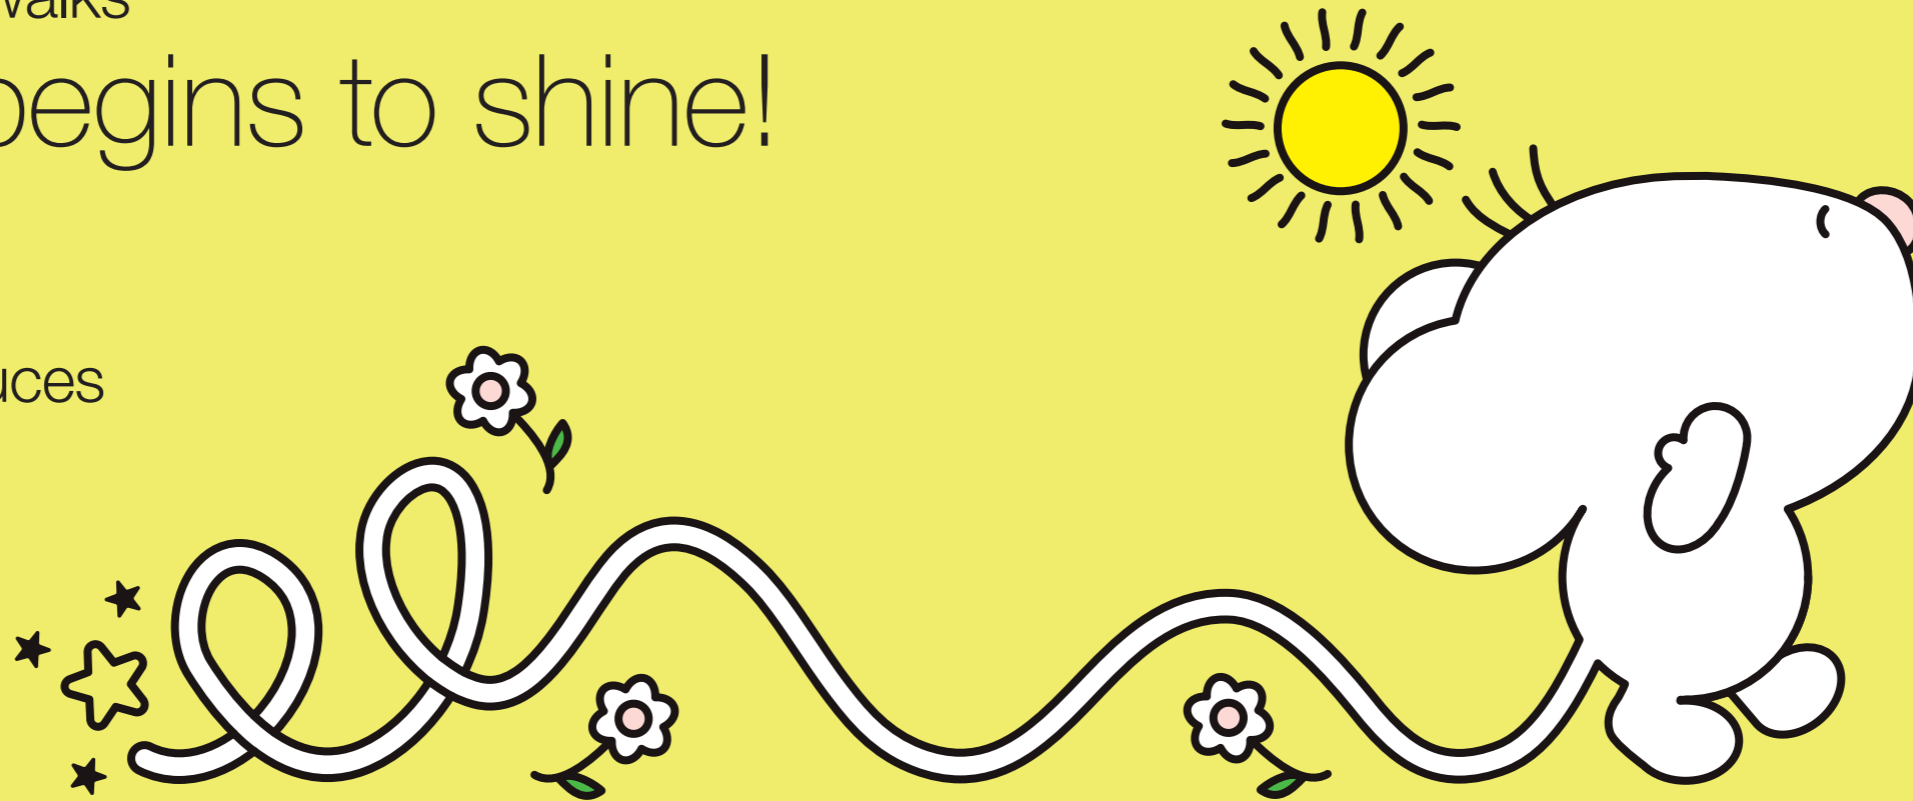

And her tail?

It magically produces

cute

little

flowers!

Suzy jumps for joy.

“Oh, how beautiful!” she exclaims.

“Suzy has a fairy tail!”

the little mice sing in unison.

The cute little town looks amazing!

The cute little houses
in the cute little streets
sit basking in the glowing sun.

And the cute little gardens
are overflowing

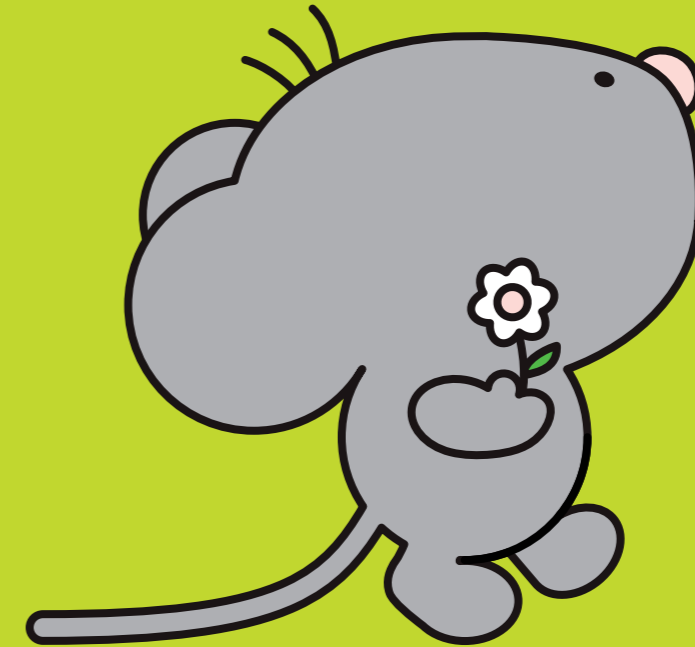

with cute little flowers!

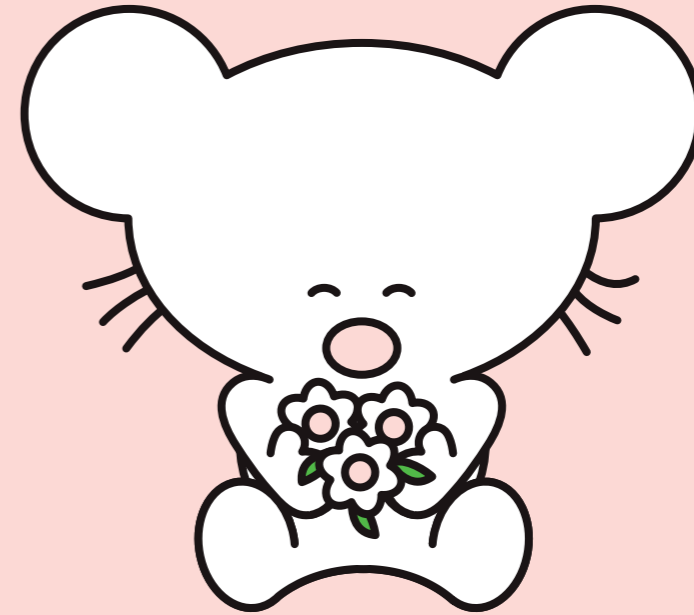

Suzy plays every day.

Together with all the little mice.
From early in the morning
until late at night.

And after they play, they each pluck
a cute little flower...

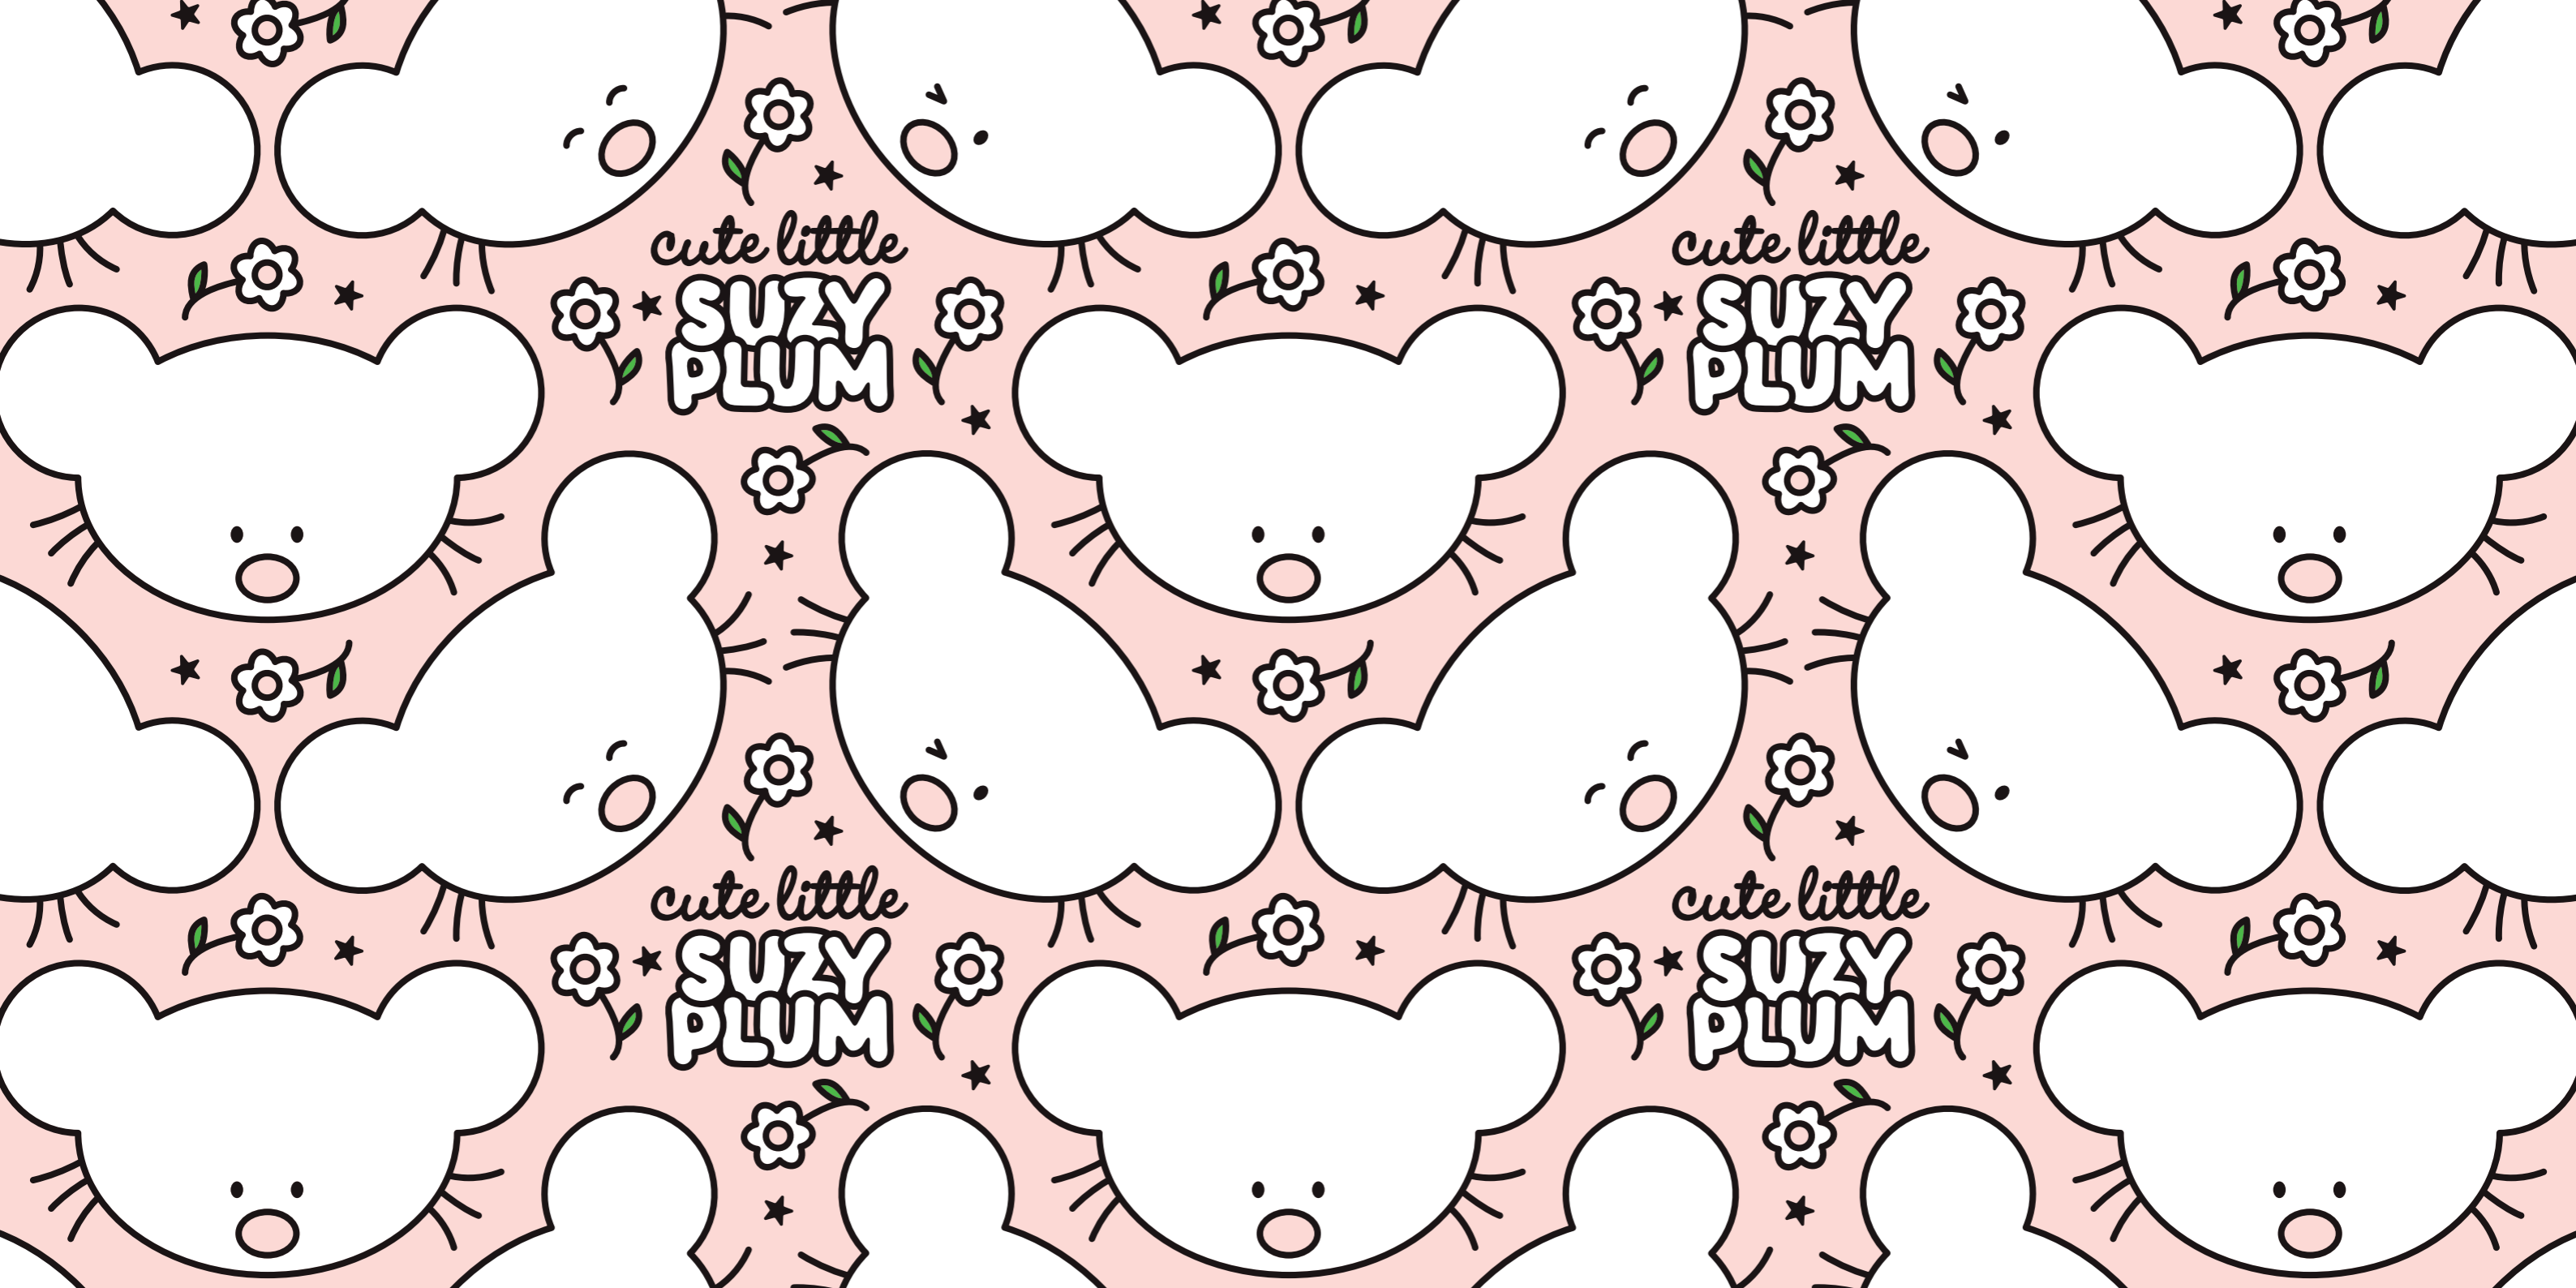

... for cute little Suzy Plum,
their fairy tail friend.
